

Driven by purpose. Powered by science. Committed to success.

Novocure is a company with a powerful mission: to extend the lives of people living with some of the most aggressive forms of cancer. Here, your work will have a direct impact on patients and those who care about them. Be prepared to show up every day with determination to succeed, because as Novocure grows we help more patients.

Why do people work at Novocure?

We're a company with the drive of a startup and the strength that comes with more than 26 years of success.

THE POWER OF OUR PURPOSE

At Novocure, our PatientForward mission is more than a statement, it's the driving force behind everything we do. We have the unique privilege of directly supporting patients, creating connections that are personal, meaningful, and deeply human. This is more than a job. It is a commitment to deliver results that strengthen our company and help patients live longer, healthier lives.

WE'RE AT THE INTERSECTION OF MEDTECH AND BIOTECH

Novocure sits at the rare intersection of research, engineering, and healthcare. We are the only company to develop and commercialize Tumor Treating Fields, a proprietary therapy that disrupts cancer cell division and is redefining how aggressive cancers are treated. Our scientists, engineers, and patient facing teams work together to turn breakthrough science into real world impact for cancer treatment.

INNOVATE, COLLABORATE AND DELIVER

Innovation doesn't happen in isolation. At Novocure, collaboration is essential. Whether you work in the lab, in the field, or from the office, you are part of a connected global team that learns, shares, and succeeds together. Our trust-based hybrid working model gives you the flexibility to perform at your best while building strong relationships. We succeed when we actively support one another and work side-by-side for the benefit of our patients.

TOGETHER, THERE'S ALWAYS A WAY

At Novocure, there's not always a roadmap, and that's exactly when we thrive. If you're energized by solving problems, navigating the unknown, and driving forward to meet our goals, you'll feel right at home. Success here isn't about having all the answers, it's about believing there's always a way to deliver.

Work with us and help patients live longer, healthier lives, while helping grow the reach, impact, and future of Novocure.

